KAMPONG KHLEANG TO SAMBOR PREI KUK

Kampong Khleang

Up for a 4am wake-up call? Come visit the local fish market where the freshest catch of the day is already being bought, sold and whisked away before sunrise. After brekkie at the homestay, we'll hop into our tuk-tuks and hit the road, covering around 80 km today — with more big-road cruising than yesterday's off-road feel.

Sambor Prei Kuk

First up: a serene Buddha temple tucked into a Tonlé Sap village. Then we'll stop at Spean Praptos, one of the last surviving bridges from the Khmer Empire — ideal for a wander, a look at the ancient arches, and (maybe a coconut cake snack break). From there, it's on to Sambor Prei Kuk, a town filled with pre-Angkorian temples and surrounded by seven small villages. We'll explore both the ruins and the local life around them, with stops for Khmer noodles and local markets along the way. Back at the homestay, there's dinner, the chance to help cook, and a laidback evening to wrap up the day.
